SAYS SENTIMENT FOR PROHIBITION ENGLAND GROWS

New British Volstead Declares Great Britain Will Eventually Be Dry —Opposed to Any Halfway Measures

FIRST PARLIAMENT MEMBER TO PROPOSE PROHIBITION BILL

LONDON, May 17.—"The sign of the beer-can and the whisky bottle is all over the Conservative party which is now in power in Great Britain. This is true, in a lesser degree, also of the Liberal party. Even the Labor party the party of the workers, is not without its advocates of booze.

"It is no wonder that the peerage of Britain has been called the beerage. It might also be called the whiskyage."

It was Edwin Scrymgeour, England's "Volstead," who was speaking. He is a unique man in British politics. He is the only out and out "dry" ever elected to Parliament as a straight-out prohibitionist candidate. He is the only person in all the long history of Britain who has ever introduced a bill calling for absolute prohibition.

For years he was jeered at by Scotch politicians as a sort of political joke. But this "joke" ran last election in the Scotch industrial town of Dundee and headed the poll, beating the great Winston Churchill, who has been in a half dozen cabinets, by over 12,000.

He is a little man going gray, and speaks wit ha decided Scotch accent.

"People often tell you Americans that Britain will never go dry as America has done. That is simply ridiculous. The sentiment for prohibition is growing all the time," he says.

"The trouble has been that people do not fight for out and out dryness. They fight for so-called temperance measures. Every so-called temperance measure is cowardly because it is a compromise with the liquor traffic.

"You Americans tried that and found it lacking. That is why you finally 'went the whole hog,' as they say in your country.

"I realize fully there is the most tremendous propaganda both in your country and mine to prove that prohibition has been a huge failure in the United States, but I don't believe it.

"It may be a failure, so far, in the big cities, but it certainly isn't so in the small towns and villages. The banks, postal savings, the shops all tell a different tale. The very people who put out this tale about failure of the dry movement in America are the same people who are getting rich by selling liquor to be smuggled into your country.

"That is why I thought I would give them something to think about. So I introduced my short, snappy little bill for prohibition. It takes two small pages. It declares the inherent evils arising from the production, importation and sale of alcoholic liquors are intolerable and that all so-called regulative legistation has been a failure.

"It therefore decrees that all manufacture, sale or importation of liquor shall cease and provides heavy punishments for infraction of the law. I know the bill won't ever see daylight, but it is the first step in the battle to make Britain a dry country.

"When Britain is dry America will not be as damp as it now is. There won't be any Scotch whisky for smuggling purposes. Dry Britain and dry America—sober nations carrying on the business of the world—will face each other across the ocean."

FILE APPLICATIONS FOR POSTMASTER

Roy Hutcheson and John Miller Seek Local Appointment—Others Probably Candidates

R. P. Hutcheson and John Miller have filed applications for the position of postmaster at the local postoffice. It is reported that there are about three others who have tried for the place but their names have not been made public. The successful candidate which will be selected by Congressman Robsion and appointed by the Postmaster-General and the President through the congressman's recommendation will assume his duties here August 20, the expiration of Postmaster Charles E. Cooke's term.

Both the candidates names have been highly recommended by business men and they are friends of the congressman. Mr Hutcheson, present assistant postmaster, has been engaged in postal work for twenty-two years. It is thought that the appointment will be made in the early part of August. All applications for the position had to be in before May 15.

BUSTER ROBERTS, ELUSIVE EX-CHIEF TO TRIAL MAY 28

Buster Roberts, Pineville's ex-chief of police who calmly walked out of jail there several weeks ago, will be tried in circuit court May 28 on the charge of assaulting Alvis Howard about a year ago. Roberts has not been arrested but it is said that the charge against him will be pushed, even in his absence. A deputy sheriff was in Middlesboro today summoning witnesses for the trial.

Roberts has not been seen in Pineville for Middlesboro since he severed diplomatic relations with the bastile at Pineville. It has been rumored that he is over in Tennessee. Officers of this county are on the lookout for him.

JARS OF WHISKY FOUND IN TRAVELER'S SUITCASE

Four half-gallon jars of whiskey found in a suitcase carried by John Carey of Combs, Tenn., this morning. He was arrested by Policemen C. M. Yeary and A. D. DeBusk and placed in jail.

Carey went into a store on Lothbury avenue and left the grip, saying that he would be back for it within a few minutes. Policeman DeBusk kept a watch on the man while the other officer went for a warrant. Mr. Yeary said he went to the home of Judge Charles Wood and asked for a warrant, explaining the circumstances and the necessity for haste. He says that Judge Woods replied that he was too busy to make out the warrant and told him to go to a magistrate. After some time Magistrate Charles G. Smyth was located and he promptly issued the search warrant.

Carey did not escape in the meantime and when returned to the store to claim the grip he was arrested and taken to jail. His trial will be tomorrow morning.

EXPLANATION WHY PRISONER IS OUT

Chief Says Montgomery Is Suffering From Tuberculosis, Released by Doctor's Certificate

In explaining why Lonnie Montgomery who received a thirty days' jail sentence ten days ago is not serving his time in jail, Chief H. E. Ball says that he received certificates from two local physicians indicating that Montgomery was suffering from tuberculosis. This, he stated, is the reason that Montgomery is not in jail.

It seems that he was released from confinement soon after the trial and his frequent appearance on the streets recently has caused some public comment. The laws regarding the duties of officials in regard to prisoners who have received jail sentences are found in the Kentucky statutes as follows:

"Jailers shall receive and keep all persons in the jail who shall be lawfully committed thereto until they are lawfully discharged.

"A violation of duty shall be deemed a misfeasance in office and the court may fine the jailer therefor, or, he may be indicted at the discretion of the jury.

"When he receives into his custody a prisoner under final order of court, any order or direction of said court, or any other court or of any officer other than the governor attempting to suspend the further execution of that judgment, being void and of no effect, should not be obeyed by him."

Montgomery was convicted on May 8 by a jury of six men of having in his possession a suitcase containing nine pints of bottled in bond whiskey, each of which bore evidence of having been issued on prescription. The punishment imposed by the jury was a $100 fine and thirty days in jail.

BOYD BROWNING BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY AT HEARING

Boyd Browning whose preliminary hearing on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon took place before County Judge J. S. Bingham yesterday afternoon, was bound over to the grand jury and will be required to give a $1000 appearance bond and a $500 peace bond.

The Marsee boy was the complaining witness in the case. He testified that the defendant struck him over the head with a shotgun near Fern Lake a few weeks ago. Other witnesses testified to this effect. According to officials, Browning is still held in jail.

GASTINEAU GETS 6 MONTHS FROM FEDERAL COURT

Local Garage Man and Druggist Given Jail Sentence in London Yesterday for Having Liquor in Possession

WILLIE AND TIM BALL EACH GIVEN $500 FINE

Wallace Gastineau, charged with having liquor in his possession, received a six months' jail sentence at his hearing before Judge Cockrum, United States Judge, at London yesterday. Willie Ball and Tim Ball were each fined $500 on similar charges.

According to the law, Gastineau will have sixty days in which to get his business affairs in order before beginning the sentence. W. B. Saylor who attended the trial and appeared as a witness says there is no appeal from the federal sentences.

He said that the specific charge against Gastineau is the having of liquor in his possession when his establishment was raided by federal prohibition officers here a few weeks ago. The home of Willie Ball was raided the same day and liquor was reported found, this being the charge that was brought against him in the federal court. In a later raid Tim Ball is reported to have had liquor in his possession.

It is not known whether the jail sentence will be served here, at London or elsewhere. Federal prisoners are sometimes sent here for incarceration but this is not always the case. Gastineau is a deputy sheriff of this county.

H. L. MONROE CHARGED WITH PASSING WORTHLESS CHECKS

H. Lee Monroe is held under a $300 bond on a charge of passing worthless checks. His trial before Magistrate Charles G. Smyth is set for tomorrow morning.

R. B. Roberts, proprietor of the Piedmont hotel, charges that the defendant gave him cold checks to the amount of $70 as part payment on a board bill. The name of C. E. Carmack, business partner of Monroe, is signed to some of the checks.

William Costello, W. H. Ralston and Buck Ralston are in Louisville to attend the Derby race tomorrow.

Reasons Why You Should Support The Community Chest Campaign

Reason No. 2

THE CITY LIBRARY

A people think and act for themselves intelligently in proportion to their education. A reading people are a thinking people; thinking people elect good officers, have good government, promote good movements, secure good things for themselves and their children.

The City Library of Middlesboro has been seriously handicapped in its work because of the lack of funds and the lack of interest and support. Yet due to the splendid efforts of the Woman's Club and the assistance of the city, much has been accomplished in recent months. On an average of sixty books each day are loaned to patrons of the Library.

This library needs not alone some financial assistance to supplement what the city is doing, but it needs more books, that the school children as well as the general public may be benefited. When the general public is being benefited, the whole tone and character of the community will be raised.

The Community Chest includes $1,000 for this worthy purpose; a pittance for a year's expenditure; but it is a start, and every citizen of Middlesboro must get behind the whole budget for $17,000. Do your part!

Hear Mrs. Alderson at the Manring tonight, 8:00.

MRS. NOFFSINGER ON NEW CHARGE

Accused as Principal in Murder of Husband on Gibbons' Testimony, Trial May 28

By Associated Press

HENDERSON, May 18—Trial of Luralie Noffsinger on a new charge as principal in the murder of her husband, Gus Noffsinger, here last December was continued in circuit court here today until May 28. She admitted to bail on the sum of $10,000. Ollie Gibbons was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for Noffsinger's murder. He was the principal witness before the grand jury which returned the new indictment.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED CASES ON FEDERAL DOCKET AT LONDON

Fifteen hundred cases were on the federal docket at London, according to Policeman C. M. Yeary and A. D. DeBusk who have returned from there. About twenty-five of these cases are said to be against local defendants. All the cases have not been tried yet and court will continue the remainder of the week. No names of local defendants found guilty have been given.

Only one person had been acquitted, according to the officers. Those found guilty weregiven fines ranging from fifty to five hundred dollars. Judge Cockrum, United States Judge for this district, is presiding at the trials.

ALL INTEREST IN DERBY TOMORROW

Churchill Downs Expects Biggest Crowd in History—Number Favorites Picked

By Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, May 18.—Almost a score of thoroughbreds, representing the best in racing blood in the country, are expected to accept the challenge tomorrow afternoon at Churchill Downs in the forty-ninth renewal of the Kentucky Derby. With fair skies and a fast track the field this year gives every indication of being well filled when the barrier flies upward for the start of the most notable racing event on the American turf.

Plans have made Churchill Downs accommodate the largest crowd in the history of the running of the Kentucky Derby. Special trains from Chicago, New York and other points already have begun to tax the facilities of the railroad companies here and by tomorrow all roads leading to Louisville will be dotted with automobiles en route to the Downs. General Manager Matt J. Winn, of the Kentucky Jockey Club, says that he already has been swamped for reservations and that arrangements have been made to take care of at least 20,000 more persons this year than ever before. Mr. Winn has declared that he will throw open the center field after the enclosure is filled for he is "determined that all who come shall have a chance to see the race."

The H. P. Whitney entries, Enchantment, Pickiter, and Chickvale with the Greentree Stable offering of Rialto and Cherry Pie, are looked upon with favor of tomorrow's race and it is likely that if the weather is favorable most of this group, under the care of Trainer James Rowe, may face the barrier. Nassau, Frederick Johnson's hope in the classic, Vigil, winner of the Preakness last week, and Bo McMillan, T. J. Pendergast's entry, all are being favorably backed to take the major portion of the $50,000 added event.

Benjamin Block, who won the Derby last year with Morvich, will try to repeat this year with Aspiration or Better Luck.

E. R. Bradley, whose Behave Yourself and Black Servant, ran one-two in the Derby of 1921, is basing his hopes for the classis this year on Bright Tomorrow and Blossom Time. Martingale and Golden Rule, owned by J. S. Cosden, General Thatcher, the Nevada Stock Farm entry and Prince K, owned by Louis Marshall, may get quite a play though the latter has not the following of the eastern entries.

Zev and Rigel running under the colors of the Rancocas Stable, owned by H. F. Sinclair, are expected to be in the line up. In Memoriam, Prince Tii Tii, Chittagong, Calcutta, Wida and Right On Time, also are eligible to start in tomorrow's feature.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE LAST NIGHT CAUSED WHEN LAMP EXPLODES DURING COMMENCEMENT PLAY

Panic-stricken Audience Rush For Single Stairway Which Collapses With Them—Many Crushed and Burned to Death

WHOLE FAMILIES WIPED OUT IN SEVERAL CASES

By Associated Press

CAMDEN, May 18.—As an aftermath of a commencement play of the Cleveland school, eight miles from here, more than seventy persons, including whole families, are dead as a result of a fire which destroyed the school last night. As the play reached its climax, an oil lamp on the stage overturned and exploded. In an instant the stage was a mass of flames. Panic seized the audience of three hundred parents and relatives of the graduating class. There was a concerted rush for the single exit which led to the narrow stairway. The weight of the people was too much and it collapsed, hurt in scores in the tangled mass, numbers being crushed to death. In an instant the entire building was wrapped in flames and in an hour it was the smouldering funeral pyre of more than three score of Kersbaw county citizens. Forty children, seventeen men, fifteen women including a negro nurse were burned to death and one man is missing. In some cases, because all members of families were lost, their bodies remained unclaimed.

By Associated Press

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 18.—The revised list of dead in a fire that destroyed the Cleveland school house eight miles from here last night compiled today numbered seventy. Sixty-six bodies were taken from the ruins, according to a long distance telephone message received by Associated Press from Chief of Police Whittaker of Camden. The school building, a two-story structure containing three rooms, virtually burned to the ground before aid could be summoned. All available doctors were called and some from nearby towns. Fragmentary reports received disclosed in some instances that whole families, gathered for a school social had been wiped out. The death list reads like the roster of families of the community.

In family after family, almost every instance where parents are listed as dead, one to four children perished.

COMMUNITY CHEST ADVERTISING BEGINS

Canvas Signs to Be Tied on Cars, Placards Distributed, Other Features Developed

A broad program of advertising the Community Chest drive has begun and by tomorrow it will be in full swing. One hundred canvas signs for fastening to the rear of automobiles were printed this morning. Commandant C. Cuthbert of the Salvation Army has volunteered to tie these signs to private cars.

Two hundred posters for display in shop windows were also printed today and these will be distributed. Large signs advertising the drive and the date thereof will be posted at street corners. A feature of the advertising will be a huge thermometer the indicator of which will be moved upward each time a thousand dollars toward the $17,000 fund is collected.

NEGRO SLAIN BY OTHER AT COXTON TUESDAY NIGHT

HARLAN, May 18.—Wester Woods, colored, was shot and killed by another negro named Martin at Coxton Tuesday night. LOUISVILLE COUPLE HANG THEMSELVES

Brother and Sister Suicide Pact Evidently Caused by Despondency Over Father's Health

By Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, May 17.— Anna Schneider, 61, and her brother, George, 50, hung themselves at their home here yesterday. Police said Schneider built a scaffold in the pantry for his sister and after she ended her life he went to a shed and hanged himself. Despondency over ill health of the sister apparently caused the suicide pact. Schneider was a tinner.

A THOUGHT

Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that puts bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter.—Isa. 5:20.

Cheats easily believe others as bad as themselves; there is no deceiving them, nor do they long deceive.—La Bruyere.

IMPROVEMENT IN CITY SCHOOLS

One of the most successful terms that Middlesboro has ever had is drawing to a close. During the closing exercises pupils will show to their parents and to the city in general that they have been well trained not only in subjects contained in the school curriculum but also in discipline, good manners and other finishing touches that distinguish the educated from the illiterate. It is the duty of the public to attend all the open meetings of the school for the presence of friends ever lends encouragement to the pupils and leaves to the seniors a pleasant memory that will endure.

Middlesboro is gradually forging ahead in the educational field. Efficient system of school management, cooperation of parents and willingness of citizens to provide proper funds will soon place the city and this section of the state on a par with the older sections which have long enjoyed educational advantages.

VALUE OF TIME

Time is the most valuable of all human possessions. It outranks love, for love is not permanent. It abides after friends are gone and wealth has vanished. Time is priceless because it is changeless. Of all other things one must say: This, too, shall pass away. Time is the only thing that never ceases to be.

The most precious thing in life is the 24 hours which are alloted to mankind each day. Time is the changless possession. And the more time one has the wealthier one is. And in this, youth is the wealthiest of all.

Time is the equal possession of mankind. Without time nothing is possible. with it, all things are. Rich man, poor man, beggar man and thief, all are equally blessed by the daily miracle.

Said Emerson, "Give me health, and a day, and I will make the pomp of emperors ridiculous." Said Franklin, "If thou wouldst lay hond on life, save time, for time is the stuff that life is made of."

Arnold Bennett, in his brochure, "How to Live 24 Hours Per Day," says: "You wake up in the morning and pour purse is magically filled with 24 hours of the manufactured tissue of the universe of your life. Waste your infinitely precious commodity as much as you will, and the supply will never be withheld from you. You cannot draw on the future. It is impossible to get into debt. You can only waste the passing moment."

What a singularly inept race we are to have invented the phrase, "killing time!" After all, that is the real race suicide problem in a nutshell.

Questions

ONE—If a fielder drops a fly ball but recovers in time to force a runner at another base, is he charged with an error?

TWO—If the third strike is a wild catch that the catcher is unable to hold, the batsman reaching first, is the catcher charged with an error?

THREE—If a player tries to steal a base, and the catcher's throw easily beats him to the bag, is the runner credited with a stolen base if the fielder drops the ball in making the touch?

FOUR—When the umpire rules infield fly how is the advancement of the runners determined?

FIVE—Batted ball clears the fence by strikes an advertising board erected about a yard back of the fence. It falls back on playing territory and runner is retired at third. What about it?

Answers

ONE—The fielder is exempted from an error on a dropped fly if able to force a runner at another base.

TWO—The catcher is not charged with an error for his failure to handle the third strike, same being a wild pitch.

THREE—No stolen base is allowed. The infielder handling ball is charged with an error if it is apparent he had the runner attempring the steel.

FOUR—Runners can advance on an infield fly at same as on any other fly ball that is caught or dropped.

FIVE—It is home run. The moment it passed out of playing territory that ended it. There was no longer a chance for a play on the runner.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem
PRAGMATISM
By Berten Braley

(As a fair-minded man ought to talk, whether he does or not.)

"Speak your piece without restriction.
I am open to conviction.
Spill your theory, your hobby or your scheme:
If you've any new invention
Which you'd bring to my attention,
In my eyes won'll find a sympathetic gleam.
I will never show derision
Of the man who has a vision,
I won't greet him with a pharasaic smirk:
All I'm asking you to show is,
All I clearly want to know is,
Will it work?

"Panaceas socialistic,
Bolshevistic, anarchistic,
Revolutionary doctrines which you spout,
I am glad to hearken to them
And with friendliness I'll view them
If you'll show me how you plan to work 'em out;
Heavens knows the world's your debtor
If your scheme will make it better
And will lead us out of chaos and of murk,
But whatever your suggestion,
I must ask my little question,
'Will it work'?

"'Will it work'?
That's the query which you cannot rightly shirk!
I'll be glad to aid your mission
In improving your condition
If you'll brush away the doubts that in me lurk:
For the people are the jury
And—like me—they're from Missouri,
And the chorus which they chant is,
'will it work'?"

I don't know how long I was lying on the bed, little Marquise, after I had closed the door on Jack. I only know that it seemed as though my heart would be torn apart with my sobs.

Pretty soon I heard a tapping on the bedroom door and Jack called, "Leslie." I did not answer.

A louder tapping and a louder voice, "Leslie".

Then I did not answer.

"Don't be a fool, Leslie. Open the door."

Slowly I rose to my feet and went into the bathroom and tried to take some of the tear stains from my face. Mye eyes were almost swollen shut.

I didn't want to go to him. I didn't want to go to my own husband. I didn't want to make up. I just wanted to go home to my mother.

I never would have left her had I known marriage was to be like this.

Here I had done my very best. I had made a beautiful home for the man I had married: a man who before the wedding had showered me with the most expensive entertainment of all kinds and who was now very angry because I had put a little more money into something which was to make us both more comfortable than he had expected.

Like a dog in the manger he would neither help me to fit out the apartment nor be satisfied with it when I had finished.

Again Jack was knocking, this time so load that I was afraid the people in the other apartments on either side would head him. Quickly I went to the door and opened it.

"Leslie, I'm sorry," he said. "I ought to have remembered all the things you told me. I ought to have understood that money was for our home and nothing else.

"It is a beautiful place, but I was so in hopes that we could use some of that money to make a payment on this stock and fifteen hundred dollars a year is too much for us to pay for rent.

"I never realized it would cost so much more for two people to live than one. I wish I had hold of that liar who has spoken to the contrary."

Then he laughed, took me into his arms and whispered with his mouth close to my ear, "I do love you, little girl and I know I am hard to live with.

"I presume I will break your heart many times, but I don't mean to, dear. I don't mean to hurt you. I wouldn't trade you off for a million of those economical girls you described to me.

"You know, however, that when a man has plans for other things and sees these plans dashed, he just has to get the rage and disappointment out of his system. The one who is nearest him then, whether it be his wife, his stenographer, his best friend or his barber: that's the person that has to play martyr while he applies the modern tortures of the inquisition."

In the meantime he had picked up the lease and, going over to your beautiful old desk, little Marquise, he signed it with a flourish and present it to me.

"There, Mrs. Prescott, you will forgive me now, won't you, and I think we will be very happy here even if I do have to work like the devil to get the rent money."

Heigh-o, little Marquise, I wonder if you would be quite as happy here, if you were I and if Jack and you had never had this useless quarrel.

STATE OF ALABAMA PROBES "MOONSHINEERS" GRAVEYARD

STOUGH, Ala., May 17.—The state of Alabama yesterday entered the investigation of the "moonshiners' graveyard," where rest the bodies of eight men "who knew too much." Governor Brandon sent word he would use every facility as the state's disposal in an inquiry into the murders brought to light by Wiley Maddox, 15, son of Posey Maddox, notorious moonshiner, who went to his death fighting off the "revenoors."

Wiley Maddox confessed that his father killed the men who now lie in the moonshiners' graveyard.

The boy's story today was coming into general acceptance. Fear of Posey Maddox had previously sealed all tips, including those of his son.

Posey was killed standing off a raid. Before he fell, one of the raiding officers dropped, wounded by Posey's accurate fire.

FATHER, WHERE DO THE WILD SWANS GO?

Father, where do the wild swans go?
Far, far. Ceasinglessly winging,
Their necks outstraining, they haste them singing
Far, far. Whither, none may know.

Father, where do the cloud-ships go?
Far, far. The winds pursue them,
And over the shining heaven strew them
Far, far. Whither, none may know.

Father, where do the days all go?
Far, far. Each runs and races—
No one can catch them, they leave no traces—
Far, far. Whither, none may know.

But, father, we—where do we then go?
Far, far. Our dim eyes veiling,
With bended head we go sighing, wailing
Far, far. Whither, none may know.

PINEVILLE COURTHOUSE TO BE CLOSED IN EVENINGS

An order closing the county court house at 7 p. m. in the summer and at 6 p. m. during the winter was passed at the fiscal court meeting at Pineville Wednesday. The order provides that the building shall be opened not earlier than 6 a. m. This was done to prevent loafing there in the evening.

No action was taken on the road bond issue, it being impossible to go into this matter before the assessor's report is in. The matter will be considered at the next meeting of the body. A number of claims were allowed and other small matters attended to.

British Chancellor For Betting Tax; Says Bookmakers Keep Within Law

LONDON, May 16.—Great Britain most heavily taxed nation in the world whose trade is crippled and whose unemployed number over 1,400,000, is nevertheless such a huge agglomeration of gamblers that the government is thinking seriously of raising revenue through a tax on all bets.

Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, in presenting his annual budget estimates to the House of Commons, said he was much attracted by the idea of a tax on betting. He proposed to name a committee to examine into the matter and see what possibilities it held.

Well, it has been represented that the possibilities were just $12,000! Which gives you an idea of how bet-crazy the English people are.

Contrasts with the United States are startling. In America horse racing at the big tracks in Kentucky, New York and one or two other states, and then for a few weeks in the year.

Racing All Year

Britain has racing practically all year. Only a sudden snowstorm halts it.

In the United States, betting is illegal, except at the tracks. Makers of hand-books are subject to arrest, fine and imprisonment. Even on some of the tracks book-makers are barred.

Thus in Kentucky, betting is by the pari-mutuel system where the public virtually bets with itself, winners getting all the money, less a percentage for the track and state.

In Britain, the pari-mutuel system is not in vogue. And here is a peculiar thing: Certain kinds of book-makers are following a legal business others are following an illegal business.

Easy if You're Rich

It is due to one of the crazy kinks in the British law. The law was framed ostensibly to protect the poor man from the temptations of betting.

There are the legal book-makers who will accept your bets provided your financial responsibility and your status is vouched for by several men they know. No cash money passes. And at the end of the week's betting, if your have won, the book-maker sends you acheck. If you have lost, he sends you a bill and you send him a check.

The poor man naturally can't deal with these top-lofty gamblings. So he lays a few shillings with the outlawed hand-book men who dodge around the corner when they see the police coming.

Many of the legitimate book-makers advertise in the daily newspapers. Latest news that is "fudged" into the afternoon editions of English papers rarely is about big political or international events. Mostly it is the list of winning horses

FULL PROGRAM COMMENCEMENT WEEK 'PLANNED

Begins With Baccalaureate Week From Sunday—Twenty-two Students Graduate From High School This Year

HIGH HONOR STUDENTS TO GIVE CLASS ORATIONS

The most important event in a student's life is his graduation and, indeed, it is an accomplishment to be proud of to have gone through the course of the public school accreditably and stand ready for the "commencement" into the after-school life. To many students, of course, high school leads into the colleges or universities, but to a great number it is commencin gin a literal sense and is a parting of the ways, reluctantly saying good-bye to the happy school days but eagerly looking ahead at the worlds to conquer and adventures to encounter.

Twenty-two students will be graduated from the Middlesboro High school this year with all the ceremony attendant on commencement. This week will begin one week from Sunday, May 25, with the baccalaureate sermon and close with the alumni banquet Friday June 1.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached by the Rev. W. K. McClure, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, in the school auditorium Sunday evening, May 27. It will be a union service, the churches of Middlesboro dismissing for the service. This is the first time the seniors will appear in their caps and gowns, the official gray robes generally adopted by high schools but being worn here for the first time this year. Music for the baccalaureate service will be under the direction of Miss Lillian Seay.

Class Day exercises will be given in the school auditorium Tuesday night, May 29 and the following program has been arranged: Class song; class history, Mary Frances Davidson; piano duet, Florence Heaton and Elizabeth Hurst; class will, Wellman Cooke; "The Grumbler," Rice Gibson; vocal solo, Winnie Pippin; class prophecy, Florence Heaton; class poem, Vada Chumley; giftorian, Ruth McClure, clas ssong.

The eighth grade closing exercises will be Wednesday night, May 30. The graduates will give a beautiful cantata, "Princess Chrysanthemum," at this time and diplomas will be awarded.

High school commencement exercises will be held at Central school auditorium Thursday night, May 31. There will be no commencement speaker, the class furnishing its own program This will consist of two musical numbers and orations by the valedictorian, Miss Vada Chumley, the salutatorian, Miss Doris Campbell, and by three honor students, Miss Elizabeth Hurst, Miss Helen Stopinski and Aham Euster. The valedictorian and salutatorian were chosen by popular vote of the class from the three high honor students, the other one of whom is George Sewell. The others were chosen from the honor students who are: Elizabeth Hurst, Mary Frances Davidson, Helen Stopinski, Wellman Cooke, Aham Euster and Sneed Friar. The high school honor students are those who have never failed in high school and who have made no grade below A in any subject during their junior and senior years. The honor students have never failed in any subject and have averaged A in their junior and senior years.

The alumni banquet will be given at the Hotel Cumberland Friday night, June 1. All graduates of Middlesboro High school are invited. The banquet is in charge of the alumni president, Mrs. Philip Keeney.

The junior-senior banquet will be given tonight in the Domestic Science rooms of the high school. The banquet will be served by the Domestic Science girl sand Miss Gladiola Parker. Decorations will be in class and school colors. A program will be given for the entertainment of the Senior class who are the guests of honor.

The names of the high school graduating class follow: Doris Campbell, Wellman Cooke, Vada Chumley, Mary Frances Davidson, Aham Euster, Sneed Friar, Jimmie Ginsburg, Rice Gibson, Elizabeth Hurst, Florence Heaton, Alma Herd, Ruth McClure, Daly Maddox, Fontella Oaks, Winnie Pippin, Lelia Richardson, Helen Stopinski, George Sewell, Mable Schneider, Claud Thomas, Minnie Wauga Wester and Leo Wardrup.

Officers of the class are: President, Miss Winnie Pippin; vice-president, Miss Vada Chumley; secretary, Rice Gibson; treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Hurst. Class colors are green and white, and the class motto is "Labor omnia vincit." The class adviser is Miss Susie Roberts.

PLANTING FLOWERS ON M. H. S. CAMPUS TODAY

The M. H. S campus is being further beautified today. Under the direction of Supt. J. W. Bradner two canna beds were set out this morning, also several climbing roses. Hydrangeas will later be added to the decorations.

The hedge which was set out in front of the campus a few weeks ago is flourishing and, from all appearances it will forma beautiful and decorative fence before the lot. The grass on the campus is kept smoothly trimmed and the place, as a whole, presents a very beautiful and pleasing appearance.

GRADUATION GIFT QUESTION ANSWER

Locla Stores Run Over With Presents Suitable For Boy Or Girl Graduate

"Wha tshall I give for a gradnation present?"

This is the question confronting nearly every one at this time Gifts on this occasion, coming as they do at a time when the srudent is flushed with victory and is viewing the world through rose-tinted spectacles, are treasured more fondly and kept longer than presents given at any other time.

Local stores are fairly running over with suitable graduation presents. Whether the donor wishes to give something that is really useful or merely some thing that is merely nice and ornamental he can find the proper article.

Among some of the almost unlimited number of articles on display at local shops are: Long silk gloves in attractive colors, silk underwear and hosiery, shoes, slippers, shirts, leather handbags, pendants of new and novel designs, gold and silver pen and pencils sets, new dresses of organdie Canton crepe or georgette, slip-on sweaters, house dresses, aprons, men's shirts, new straw hats and latest designs in Spanish combs for girls.

LAST CLASS TO GRADUATE FROM CENTRAL HIGH

Old Building Will Be Used Only As Grade School—New High School With Superior Equipment Opens Next Fall

NEW STRUCTURE CONSIDERED ONE OF FINEST IN STATE

The Central school building, the time-honored and ivy-covered walls of which have become dear to the hearts of hundreds of pupils, will discharge int othe world it last class of high school graduates this year. The new high school building which is practically completed now will be used next term.

The class this year is the first to be graduated under Superintendent J. W Bradner, he having begun his work here since the closing of last term The entire school personnel is looking forward with eagerness to the beginning of work in the new building next fall.

The interior of the new building is still the scene of industry, though the workmen are now adding the finishing touches. On every floor the work is in progress. Hardwood floors are being planed down and smoothed until they appear to be made of a single piece of wood; doors are being fitted that they may close quietly and smoothly; some minor concrete jobs are being finished in the basement

One of the important features of the new building is the gymnasium which is a few feet below the ground floor at the east entrance. The playing space is large and the floors are smooth while the grandstands contains space for a number of spectators. This section is several feet higher than that used by the players and is separated from the latter by a railing The gymnasium proper is completed and chairs for spectators and baskets for basketball will be installed later.

The stairs are all made of concrete and the walls are of hardwood. The three floors and the basement are well lighted and ventilated. The building has been wired for electric lights and the switches have been installed. Only the fixtures are necessary to complete this part of the work. The plumbing work, likewise, is practically all done except the installation of the fixtures.

The recitation, lecture and other rooms and study halls are all except the polishing of the floors. The number of the rooms and the space they contain will enable a large number of pupils to pursue their work in comfort.

The grounds surrounding the building which are now piled with lumber and refuse building materials will be thoroughly cleaned up when the final work on the building is done. A well-lying campus will be around the building when school opens next term.

It is gratifying to note that the educational board of Lynch, in visiting a number of schools buildings in this and two adjoining states, decided to construct their new high school building along the lines of our building. The visitors who were conducted through the building by Supt. Bradner declared that it represented the last word in school building construction and that their building would be modeled from it.

Manly and Young, architects, Rogers and Leventhall, contractors, John Burnett, plumber and others who aided in the work have all handled thier jobs exceptionally well, resulting in a school building which not only Middlesboro but also Kentucky is justly porud.

FINAL EXAMS IN SCHOOLS FRIDAY

Pupils of the Central school will take final examinations next Friday, according to Supt. J. W. Bradner. These have not yet been made out, this work being left until next week. The average attained in the exams will determine whether or not the pupil will be promoted. An average of "C" or 75 is necessary for passing.

Pupils who have been lax in their work and the diligent students are making efforts to pass these final tests. The former realize that any "midnight oil" used in this cause will enable them to go into a higher class next year and the latter wish to acquit themselves creditably to sustain the good record already made.

SUPERINTENDENT J. W. BRADNER

The major part of the credit for the wonderful advancement which has been marked in Middlesboro schools during the past year is due to Superintendent J. W. Bradner. He has had a sympathetic board of education and a willing corps of teachers to make his work easier but the executive work has proceeded almost entirely from him.

Superintendent Bradner came to Middlesboro from Ashland highly recommended as a school man and a citizen and he has certainly vindicated all recommendations. His school work has brought Middlesboro and Middlesboro schools to light throughout the state and his work in local civic organizations has made him respected and admired by all of the citizens here with whom he has come in contact.

Middlesboro is fortunate, more than that, to have such a man at the head of her schools and local citizens may confidently expect for the future a continuation of the splendid program he has begun.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT LAST NIGHT GOOD

High School Boys and Girls Give Enjoyable Program Under Direction Miss Seay

The concert given last night by the Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs was well received, each number being liberally applauded. The success of the musical event reflects credit on the work of Miss Lillian Seay as director and upon the diligence and attention to detail of the pupils. Miss M. Rey Taylor, as accompanist, did splendid work.

The program consisted of songs by the Glee clubs, choruses by the two members of the two clubs and music by the high school orchestra. Miss Ruth McClure and Miss Charline Gagle sang solos. A fairly large crowd attended the concert, the auditorium being about half filled.

The concert program follows: "Overture," Edward Hazel, high school orchestra; "The Heavens Resound," Beethoven, chorus; "Come out to the Soft May Morn," Brown, Girls' Glee Club; "The Gypsy Trail," Galloway-Warhurst Boys' Glee Club; "Peggy," Cox, Girl's Glee Club; "Swing Along," chorus; "Down the Trail of Dreams to You," Stoughton, by Miss Charlene Gagle; "Gavotte," Hazel, high school orchestra "At the Tea House," "Pretty Barbarita," and "Pretty Geisha Girl," Harker, Girls' Glee club; "The Americans Come," Foster, Boys' Glee club; "In the Hall of the Mountain King," Grieg, Girls' Glee club; "Baby Dear," Huerter and "Come, For it's June," Forster, Miss Ruth McClure; "Good-night, Good night, Beloved," Pinsuti, and "Recessional," DeKoven, chorus

Members of the Boys' Glee Club are; Harold Adams, Henry Billingsley, Deral Biggerstaff, Raymond Burke, Neil Callison, Jack Chesney, Roger Cecil, Wellman Cooke, Abe E. Euster, Rice Gibson, Glen Herd, Robert Hobbs, Kee Kinnaird, Lewis Lyon, Charles Neighbors, Bob Ralston, Rondle Hollofield, George Sewell, Henry Sewell, Earl Slone, Humberta Terry, Ben Vanbeber, John Wallbrecht and Henry Austin.

Members of the Girls' Glee Club are: Jean Callison, Lucy Chadwick, Pearl Euster, Dorothy Evans, Edith Campbell, Mary Frances Davidson, Henrietta Davidson, Charlene Gagle, Alice Gloster, Hazel Hampton, Alma Herd, Edith Allen, Aileen Burks, Helen Burnett, Vada Chumley, Kathryn Callison, Elizabeth Hurst, Ruth McClure, Rena Moore, Adeline Morris, Alice Motch, Louise More, Ola Nelson, Winnie Pippin, Thelma Pearman, Hazel Smith, Lucille Short, Virginia Stiles, Lola Smith, Lila Wilson and Madeline Whitaker.

Members of the orchestra are: Winnie Pippin, Doris Campbell, Raymond Burke, Roger Cecil, Henry Sewell, Charles Neighbors, Bill Haynes.

Mother Keeps Youthful With Her Children

CORVALLIS, Ore., May 12.—"Keep young with your children and you will stay young."

Mrs. Jessie E. Bump of Corvallis repeats this ancient proverb, believes in it and—what's more to the point—is fulfilling its terms.

She is now attending the Oregon

MRS. JESSIE E. BUMP

Agricultural College here, with her two sons, after she had been 25 years out of school. She left college at the close of her sophomore year, to be married. But it wasn't the end of college life fore her.

"I've figured for 20 years on coming back to get my diploma," she explained "I think I am getting more out of college than I did 25 years ago. Things have more associations and greater value to me.

"My boys are glad I am finishing my education. They walk down the campus with me just as proudly as if they were with the best looking girl in school.

"It's all foolishness that older people can't learn. I am keeping up with the times and in closer touch with my children. When one of my boys comes home grouching about an exam I can sympathize with him because I know exactly what he means."

TODAY'S RECIPES

STUFFED FILLETS OF FLOUNDER

A fillet is a piece of fish free from skin and bones. For eight fillets, in this recipe, there should go two tablespoons oil, one tablespoon vinegar, salt, pepper and onion juice, one cup well seasoned mashed potatoes, one egg slightly beaten, and diluted with water, bread crumbs and fat for deep fat frying.

Cover the fillets of fish with the oil, vinegar, salt, pepper and onion juice. Set aside for a time. Then drain spread each fillet with mashed potato, roll up and fasten with toothpicks. Roll in seasoned flour, dip in the egg, roll in crumbs and fry in deep fat three minutes. Drain and serve with the following sauce:

Two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one-half cup fish stock made from bones and trimming, one-half cup cream, two tablespoons vinegar, one teaspoon chopped onion, one tablespoon chopped sweet pickle, one tablespoon capers, one teaspoon tarragon vinegar, salt and pepper to taste.

Melt the butter, add flour and when smooth add fish stock and cream. Cook until it thickens. Scald the vinegar with the onion, add the pickle, capers, parsley, tarragon vinegar and seasoning.

Save Bread

All crumbs, all bits of bread and heels of loaves should be dried thoroughly, ground fine with a meat chopper and turned into a glass jar. They may be used for breading cutlets, making pancakes, may be substituted for potatoes in hash and are better than cracker crumbs.

Soup

Left-over gravy makes a good starting point for a soup. Dilute it to proper consistency, season, add any left-over vegetable or even a spoonful of cereal from breakfast which will thicken it somewhat. Simmer for a couple of hours, strain, add croutons or noodles and serve.

Ice Economizers

Food Savers

Good refrigerators must be both of these things. And you can't judge a Refrigerator by appearance only—the important thing is economy in the consumption of ice and the circulation of air around the food to keep it clean, fresh and wholesome. With the present high prices of food, waste, is costly.
